Press release

Launching of a professional quality meeting Internet site on mobile phones.

RDVmobile is a free and innovative meeting Internet site, available on mobile phones and personal computers. What's new ? More tools such as geolocation, speed dating or the possibility of getting contact.

The concept of this new site is to combine a social network with a traditional meeting site to propose the most natural meeting service. What is its aim ? This site enables its subscribers to extend their single people's network as if in real life, with the help of new devices.

Nicolas Roussel, who created RDVmobile tells us how this idea began to form “ I decided to create this site when I simply noticed the two following facts : on one side, traditional meeting sites that always offer the same services, on the other side, the coming boom of using the Internet on mobile phones. RDVmobile became then the key to answer an increasing need of people to use their mobile phones to meet.”

Therefore, RDVmobile contrasts with other sites thanks to the new tools it offers such as geolocation or speed dating that allows our members to go on a date for real. This network enables to meet friends' friends through planned happenings. We propose more friendly and lively contacts. All these elements create a new Internet meetings access.

As Nicolas Roussel underlines: “Unlike personal computers, mobile phones allow much more flexible and open communications. They bring a feeling of freedom and movement that are more and more demanded and enjoyed. The I-Phone is a perfect example of this trend. New mobile phones services, third generation phones offering unlimited access, web navigation undergoing rapid change are as many positive factors that encourage using the Internet on mobile phones.”

Traditional tools such as personal electronic mail service, mail alert, and Internet search set up, are, of course included and offer the best performances.

To end up, RDVmobile is a totally free site, whether you are a man or a woman, in order to propose casual meetings to our subscribers, and to avoid any depreciation or embarrassment feeling.

About RDVmobile.com

RDVmobile is an independent Internet site created by Nicolas Roussel, who is a Wobility owner manager. It took twelve months for the project to come into being. It was tried on several mobile devices before its validation and production.
